REPORT OF THE SCHOOLS IN TROY FOR THE YEAR ENDING MARCH 1, 1888.

THE GRAMMAR SCHOOL

During the year has been under the instruction of Miss Georgia D. Harrington, her first term commencing April 25th, the second Sept. 12th, the third Dec. 5th.

The studies taught were confined chiefly to the common English branches.

The number of absences for the year, including several weeks' absence of some of the scholars, amounted to 908 half days.

The roll of perfect attendance contains the following names: Bessie A. Brown, Grace Capron, Edith Farrar, Nellie I. Farrar, Junie E. Hale, Susie C. Hale, Mabel G. Harris, Lora E. Lawson, Lena M. Starkey, Leonard Farrar, Fred J. Farrar, Frank J. Farrar.

The number of visitors for the year, not including those of the School Board was 23, not one of whom was a parent of any of the scholars.

Miss Harrington is a well qualified and effective teacher, and under her instruction the scholars have made commendable progress.

It is very much to be regretted, that the parents have not shown sufficient interest to visit the school. They might in this way do much to help and encourage both the teacher and pupils.

NORTH PRIMARY SCHOOL.

This school has been taught by Miss M. Abbie Farrar. The first and second terms were of eleven weeks each. The third term of seven weeks. In all twenty-nine weeks.

The whole number of scholars was 35, 21 boys and 14 girls, the school consisting of about the same number through the year.

The number of absences during the year reckoned in half days has been 978.

The studies pursued were reading, spelling, penmanship, arithmetic, geography and grammar in all which the scholars have shown a good degree of interest, and have made decided progress.

Roll of perfect attendance:

Morris E. Adams, Charles H. Bigelow, Lester F. Harris, Harry N. Hale, Frank G. Lawrence, Charles H. Starkey, Leonard Starkey, John H. Lawson, Lottie B. Farrar, Clarence L. Webster, Grace E. Brown, Ethel M. Brown, Jessie Mahon, Norma B. Savory, Florence Harris, John Starkey, Nora E. Lovering, Florence H. Silcox, Cora C. Starkey.

Miss Farrar has taught in town the last two years, and has proved herself one of our best and most successful teachers.

SOUTH PRIMARY SCHOOL.

This school has been taught by Miss Edith L. Aldrich, whose first term was eleven weeks, the second term six, and the third eight weeks, 25 weeks in all.

The whole number of pupils registered 43, 20 boys and 22 girls. The average number in attendance 29.

The studies pursued were reading, spelling, penmanship, arithmetic, geography and grammar.

The number of absences in half days 1,217, this includes 655 half days of non membership.

Roll of perfect attendance:

Frank B. Hill, Edlie S. Ruffles, Mary L. Hill, Lillia E. Hill, Edna Hill, Nellie M. Jarvis, Celia LaPoint, Rae B. Silsby, Flora A. Gee, Jame G. Ammidon, Cora C. Starkey.

This school has been very unfortunate. For five weeks it was suspended on account of the prevalence of scarlet fever. Consequently the scholars have not made the improvement they would otherwise have done.

The teacher has been diligent, faithful and efficient and has accomplished all that could be expected under the circumstances.

SCHOOL ON WEST HILL.

This school has had three teachers. Miss May Haskell commenced April 18, and on account of sickness was obliged to give up the school after teaching 2 weeks. Miss Helena Goodridge commenced June 6th and taught 13 weeks. Miss Alice M. Heath commenced Nov. 28 and closed Jan. 26, having taught 9 weeks.

The whole number of pupils for the year is ten, 5 boys and 5 girls. The average number in attendance 6.

The branches taught were reading, spelling, penmanship, arithmetic, geography, grammar and physiology.

Roll of perfect attendance :

Alice M. Foster, Jessie A. Foster, Cornelius Foster, Viola M. Ross.

Whole number of absences in half days for the year is 204, including terms of non-membership.

Miss Heath is worthy of special commendation for her tact and fidelity as a teacher.

THE SCHOOL ON EAST HILL

Was under the instruction, during the autumn and winter terms, of Miss Bertha A. Gilmore.

The whole number of scholars during the year was ten, but for various causes the number was reduced before the close of the winter term to three. The attendance was very irregular, some of the scholars being kept at home several weeks at a time.

Miss Gilmore was well qualified and did her work faithfully. She had the confidence of her pupils, and exerted an excellent moral influence over them. quite true

During the summer term the pupils were sent to the adjoining district in Jaffrey, taught by a Miss ~~Platt~~ of that town, who though very young proved herself an excellent teacher.

SCHOOL IN THE MERRIFIELD NEIGHBORHOOD.

This was a little school in the house of Leonard Merrifield taught, during the fall term, by Miss Viola L. Ross, consisting of six scholars between the ages of 3 and 11 years, a part of whom reside in Richmond. The branches taught were reading, spelling and arithmetic.

The parents in this neighborhood have shown a commendable interest for the education of their children and very much prefer to have them taught in their own neighborhood. It seems desirable that a comfortable school room should be provided for them by the town.

REMARKS.

The board would say in conclusion, that though our report is not, in all respects, so favorable as we could wish, the schools as a whole have been doing well. The teachers for the most part have been faithful in their work, and decided progress has been made by the scholars in the several departments of study.

The success of our schools depends chiefly, but not wholly, on the efficiency of the teachers. Very much depends on the scholars. No teacher, however well qualified, can make good scholars out of pupils who have no desire to learn and no application to study. The pupils must appreciate their privileges and try to make the most of them. No matter how bright and intelligent the pupil may be, he must be diligent and studious, or he will derive little benefit from the school.

The parents, also, may do much to help the teacher, by showing an interest in the school, by an occasional visit, by talking with their children and with the teacher about their studies, and what progress they are making, and rendering them any assistance that may be in their power in their studies. Thus teachers, scholars and parents may co-operate in making our schools a decided success.
